Company Noticeboard

We are going through some exciting changes here at N&C Tiles and Bathrooms. We are re-branding our stores to better reflect the on-trend, quality tile and bathroom products we have on offer.

Previously known as N&C Tilestyle, the new name (N&C Tiles and Bathrooms) better reflects our product offering to their customer base. The re-branded store design has been recognised for featuring a fresh, modern approach to retailing. It has placed greater emphasis on our distinctive cyan blue corporate colour in order to maintain our identity in the retail market, whilst aiming to cater to both trade and retail customers. The brand reflects 'high quality products at competitive prices' and is communicated through our new store designs, point of sale, retail communications and service.

Our Nominated Charity, Children Today

Throughout the year, N&C raise a phenomenal amount of donations through various activities and events throughout the country to raise awareness and donations for the charity, Children Today. Children Today are a charity that provides specialised equipment and services for children and young people with disabilities throughout the UK. Children Today believe the provision of specialised equipment has a direct and immediate impact on a child's quality of life and independence, and is vital in helping them to overcome obstacles and achieve their potential. Equipment can include wheelchairs, walking frames, tricycles and other mobility aids, as well as communication aids, multi-sensory equipment and other information technology.

Children Today relies totally on voluntary donations and receive no funding from the government or social services. There is no statutory right for young people with disabilities to be provided with equipment they need by the government or NHS, so they fill that gap.

The Tile Association (TTA)

N&C are key members of The Tile Association, an independent organisation acting as the voice of the UK wall and floor tile industry from manufacture to installation. N&C play a vital role within the Association with members forming part of the Board and various committees that form and shape the industry. N&C are part of the technical committee who are a representation of British, European and International Standards' Committees on tiles, tile fixing, adhesives and grouts. The Committee are responsible for the drafting of TTA technical documents and advice notes and the TTA inspection service.

Why is this important?

Being at the forefront of the industry allows us to develop the latest in product technology, trends and allows us to offer invaluable advice and expertise for the ultimate confidence in your project.

Retailer of the Year 2014

Celebrations all around!

The team at N&C Tiles and Bathrooms are excited to have been recognised as 'Multiple Retailer of the Year 2014' at the prestigious Tile Association Awards (TTA) held in London this year. The TTA are the voice of the UK tile industry and represent quality and high standards.

We have been acknowledged for our recent developments in service, products and providing an excellent overall services to customers.

NEW Showroom Edmonton, London

We are happy to open the doors of our newest N&C Tiles and Bathrooms showroom located off the A406 in Edmonton, London.

As our 17th showroom to open in the UK, trade and DIY customers will find everything needed to complete projects, whether you're looking to redesign a whole room or simply updating your bathroom.

If you're not sure what you're after, help is at hand with our Creative Hub, our instore inspirational hub with a library of product options and a colour trend forecast to help assist you with your design ideas.

Happy 140th Birthday... to us!

Before you ask, it wasn't a typo, we really are 140 years young! As part of the Nicholls & Clarke Group, we were established in 1875 in the heart of London, in the East End's Shoreditch. Our former Nicholls & Clarke building still stands in what is now reputed as the design capital of the UK!

We started life selling building materials to the trade, before opening our first showroom to the trade and public not long after.

looking brand new!*

Top N&C Tip

Routine cleaning using Nicobond Tile Cleaner can avoid harsh scrubbing and the use of stronger chemicals later on.

Q How can I maintain the new look of my new tiles?

A As soon as you purchase your new tiles, use an initial cleaner to remove residue and harsh dirt caused by tiling, then use a regular cleaner for ongoing cleaning. Use a sealer to protect your tiles. Follow our recommended cleaning regime to keep your tiles looking gorgeous!

Q Can I use Nicobond Sealers and Cleaners on my existing tiles, or is it too late?

A It's not too late to rescue dirty, stained tiles. Depending on the surface type and type of existing stains, we offer special cleaning products with a more advanced, powerful formula. Ask in store for details.

Q How do I know what products to use?

A There are different products depending on the type of tiles you have. Use our easy product selector chart to find the product you need!

Here is our recommended 3 step cleaning regime to keep your tiled floor looking fabulous!

1. First, sweep away or Hoover the tiled floor to remove dust and dirt
2. Damp mop the floor using the required dilution of Nicobond Tile Cleaner & water
3. Dry the tile surface using a dry mop or absorbent cleaning cloth rather than waiting for it to dry

Our step by step guide on...

How to fix wall tiles

- Things you will need:
- Pencil - Spirit Level
 - Batten - Mixing Bucket
 - Hammer & Nails
 - Tile Adhesive - Trowel
 - Tile Spacers
 - Tile Grout - Grout Float
 - Sponge & Dry Cloth

Planning ahead is essential for that perfectly tiled wall! Follow our recommended guide on fixing wall tiles and take that step to creating your perfect room.

PREPARATION

Take a long length of a timber batten, mark the tile widths to help you identify where the tile will start and finish, remembering to leave space for the joints, which must be at least 2mm wide. Avoid small difficult cuts as they can spoil the appearance.

1. Pin the batten to the wall using a spirit level to make sure it's level. The first line of tiles will rest on this batten. Draw a vertical line at the centre of the wall. Use this to check that the tiles are in line vertically.

2. Spread the wall tile adhesive using a notched trowel onto the wall. Work in small areas so that tiles are fixed before the adhesive dries and forms a skin.

3. Press and twist the wall tiles into the adhesive starting at the bottom and working upwards, one row of tiles at a time. Check the horizontal and vertical lines with the spirit level every few rows. Adjust as necessary.

4. Tiles at the end of the new row can easily be cut using a suitable tile cutter. Use peg or cross type spacers to ensure a uniform joint.

5. Do not begin grouting for at least 24 hours after fixing unless you're using rapid setting and hardening adhesives. Force the grout into the joints using a float grouter. Do not use rigid spreaders as these can cause scratching to certain tile glazes.

6. Remove surplus grout from the surface with a damp sponge. Polish with a dry cloth once grout has set. To accommodate any stress through movement, insert Nicobond Silicone Sealant into internal corners. If the tile does not have a glazed edge, a neat finish on external edges and corners can be achieved with the use of tile fixing trim incorporated at the time of tiling.

Your guide to measuring

1. Create a drawing of the floorplan/area in the room you are measuring. It doesn't have to be to scale, but the more accurate it is, the more useful it'll be for recording purposes.

2. Measure the length of the room or area you want to tile.

3. Measure the width of the room or area you want to tile.

4. Multiply the width by the length to get the total square footage of the area you want to tile.

What if the area to tile isn't squared?

If the area is not square, split the room into smaller areas and measure the length and width of each. Then, add the area of the smaller squares together. If there is an object in the middle of the floor, such as a bathtub or a kitchen island, measure the length and width of the area covered by the object and subtract it from the total square footage.

5. Multiply the total square footage by 10% (or .10 on a calculator) and add this to the total square footage.

Why do I need to add 10%?

We always recommend purchasing 10% more than you need to cover you for any breakages or errors in cutting your tiles. Any extras can be kept for any future tile breakages or alternatively full boxes can be returned to store for a full refund if returned within 28 days.
